

Dear Ministry Partners,

February, 2026

After returning home from Asia, I have been asked to speak on how to motivate our church people to do evangelism. We were visited by June and David Otis from Michigan, people who led Miltinnie and me to Christ while we were stationed in Germany in 1972. Christie's husband, Albert, wanted them to share with their three daughters how they led us to Christ while we were a newly married couple. He called it a valuable part of our family legacy as our three granddaughters, 15, 13, and 10, gathered to hear how their grandparents were picked up from a life of hopeless despair (contemplating divorce) to a breakthrough new life in Jesus Christ in Giessen, Germany. Miltinnie and I were alternately moved to tears as we reminisced on God's goodness and incredible mercy to pick us up and offer us eternal salvation through the sacrifice of His Son, Jesus Christ, while we were miserable sinners.

I don't know how much time we have left, but Psalm 90:10 makes my next birthday (the 80th.) a sobering one. Temporal pursuits have lost their luster and the hassles of life must be taken in perspective. What matters are the souls of people that we come in contact with and have an opportunity to influence. When we do this, we remain spiritually healthy, and this remarkably influences our physical health.

We are deeply grateful for your prayers and support for our work and ministry.
